

The Evening World's Kiddie Klub Korner

Conducted by Eleanor Schorer

Woodland Wonder Tales

By Cousin Eleanor

No. 27—The Wooing of Jennie Brighteyes.

ALL the Munnies, squirrels in the woodland were just as industrious as Munnies Brighteyes. All were building nest homes for the new babies that would come in April. All the Daddie squirrels in the woodland were just as busy as Daddy Brighteyes. They each had one, two or three young sons and daughters to settle in life. All the Billies and Jennies in the woodland were just as gay as Jennie and Billy Brighteyes. They were frisking and flirting and sometimes, when two suitors came to woo the same maid, fighting.

Many of Jennie Brighteyes' friends had married and gone to build homes on the estates of their husbands. These estates consisted of a tree, where the nest was placed, and the space around the tree, where food enough to feed the family grew in the rich soil.

But Jennie Brighteyes was still at home with her parents. She and Billy were their father's special charge these days and Mr. Brighteyes was anxious about her. Most of the daddies were sober about their responsibilities, but I think that Daddy Brighteyes was more serious than any of the others. You see, Jennie Brighteyes was the belle in the woodland. She had grown into one of the plumpest, brightest, most mischievous girls among the grays. Every day brought suitors to her home and every day Daddy Brighteyes thought it his duty to discourage them.

"Hrrr, hrrr," "There they go again. I wonder which one of those young squirrels that is," and Daddy Brighteyes snipped his head round to see Ned Nibbler up in the next tree. There was Jennie Brighteyes on a branch looking detached and there was the wooer on the next tree rolling out his love song while he kept his eyes fastened upon the lovely lady of his heart.

"Hrrr, hrrr," It was the love lay of another suitor. Jennie Brighteyes started to run along a branch. This encouraged the swains. Ned Nibbler jumped over on to her tree quick as a wink. At the same moment Patsy, the other suitor, appeared. He too sought Jennie Brighteyes. The two ruffled up their backs and straightened their tails. There was going to be a fight. Two sets of sharp teeth would snap, and the fur would fly. Jennie Brighteyes scampered silently up to a top limb out of harm's reach and nibbled on a tender bud. She did not even watch the quarrel. She did not care which one won. She would make a good, dutiful wife to the victor whoever he was.

Next story: The Winning of Jennie Brighteyes.

The Child and the Bird.
A child said to a bird one day,
Where did you get your pretty voice?
God gave it to me, my dear child.
And then he flew away.
ROSEMARY FREUND, aged eight and a half, New York City.

The Clock.
Tick! Tick! Tick! Tick!
How the moments fly away!
One by one the hours pass
And soon we have another day.
Tick! Tick! Tick! Tick!
The hands which point the time
Are busy little fellows,
Who travel in rain and shine.

Tick! Tick! Tick! Tick!
When would it to me do seem
That the clock in very ambitious
And never stops to dream.
Really he's a clever creature,
With his merry little tick.
And if he's wound up once a week
He's never tired or sick.
By EMILY PAY, aged thirteen, New York City.

FEBRUARY CONTEST AWARD WINNER.
Twelve-Year Class.
WHAT I DO WITH MY SAVINGS.
One day when I was going to school and the wind nearly tore me from my feet I met a girl poorer than I and shivering from the cold. I asked her her name and she told me it was "Helen." In my pocket I had $1, which I reserved every two weeks from my mother. Something told me that this little girl needed the money more than I did. When I gave it to her she smiled as though she had received warmth from some sheltering place. Every day I meet her and every day she thanks me. I intend to give her my dollar every two weeks so that she may not shiver when the wind rustles around her.

MARY CONWAY, New York City.

HONORABLE MENTION.

Seymour Wasserberger, Brooklyn; Ruth Hamilton, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Lucille Jackson, Woodhaven, N. Y.; Louis Doscher, Long Island City; Max Taitman, Brooklyn; Merriuth Kling, West Nyack, N. Y.; Ruth Altowitz, Brooklyn; Virginia Blackburn, New York City; Theresa Williams, Brooklyn; Eliza May Turner, Tilly Foster, New York; Lillian Perlmutter, Long Island City; Helen Kraus, Bronx; Elsie Burger, Brooklyn; Angeline Siviglia, New York City; Samuel Steinman, New York City; Thomas A. Watson, New Dorp, S. I.; Alice E. Hunt, New York City; George Morrison, Brooklyn; Mildred Braulman, Brooklyn; Edythe Stimmler, Ridgefield Park; Harry Greenberg, New York City; Viola Weber, New York City; Maurice Prince, New York City; Harold Wilson, Brooklyn; Josephine Schindl, New York City; Helen Harrgrave, Jamaica, N. Y.; Rita Kassel, New York City; Adele Davey, New York City; Charlene Schure, Astoria, L. I.; Harriett Moder, Corona, L. I.

MARCH CONTEST.

Ten awards of $1 each will be given to the ten Kiddie Klub members, aged from six to fifteen inclusive, who send Ruffled Their Fur and Straightened Their Tails.

In the best ideas for a Kiddie Klub contest.

Write NAME, AGE, ADDRESS and CERTIFICATE number distinctly. Address Cousin Eleanor, N. Y. Evening World Kiddie Klub, No. 62 Park Row, New York City.

Contest closes Wednesday, March 30.

HOW TO JOIN THE CLUB AND OBTAIN YOUR PIN.

Send your name, age, address and certificate number to the editor of the Evening World, N. Y. City, and you will receive your pin. All children up to fifteen years of age may become members. Each member is provided with a silver pin and membership certificate.

COUPON 749.

JERSEY CITY FIGHTS SMOKE.

New City Ordinance Draws and Electrification of Railroads Demanded.

Plans are being completed to make Jersey City a smokeless city. Assistant Corporation Counsel Charles M. Egan of the City Law Department announced to-day that a city ordinance had been drafted which provided for a fine of $100 and imprisonment for violation of the city law.

Dense clouds of soft coal smoke and gases hover over the city daily, making life miserable for the residents of the lower section of the city. In the City Hospital patients suffering from pulmonary diseases are badly affected by the fumes and smoke, and Medical Director John Nevins has made numerous complaints to the city officials.

Counselor Egan has received data from the Pittsburgh officials, where successful efforts were made to rid that city of smoke and gases. A fight will also be waged to compel the railroad officials to electrify all roads coming into the city.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

THE smart woman

will renew her friendship with linen in the interest of her summer frocks. For though this fabric was pushed into the background for a couple of years, it has regained its self-possession, and will stand among the favorites of Dame Fashion. The very coarse and heavy weaves of it will make practical morning frocks on simple straight lines, while the lighter weight qualities will be developed more elaborately in conjunction with organdie or real lace. Sometimes the linen is trimmed with linen in a contrasting color or white. Plain green linen for instance, with white linen introduced in a novel and interesting manner, is suggested in my design to-day. It is a frock that the matron will be delighted with, for every line of it is dignified and especially becoming to the mature figure. The skirt is extended above the waistline each side of the front, while at the sides, and extending around the back, the bodice is dropped below the waistline. The effect is individual, such as the woman who interests herself in the making of her clothes always strives for. In the form of a three-inch band down the center front, white linen is inserted by means of fagoting. This band is slashed open a ways down from the neck, to permit the wearer to don the frock over the head, and so small round pearl buttons are called to service to link the piped edges together. The collar is a splendid sailor shape of the green linen, with the white forming a band on the edge. It is supplied with a small inner yoke. This model is adaptable for serge as well as linen, also a heavy silk, such as khaki-kool, which would make a spring frock in a dark color, or a summer frock in a light one.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

By Mildred Lodewick

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

THE smart woman

will renew her friendship with linen in the interest of her summer frocks. For though this fabric was pushed into the background for a couple of years, it has regained its self-possession, and will stand among the favorites of Dame Fashion. The very coarse and heavy weaves of it will make practical morning frocks on simple straight lines, while the lighter weight

qualities will be developed more elaborately in conjunction with organdie or real lace. Sometimes the linen is trimmed with linen in a contrasting color or white. Plain green linen for instance, with white linen introduced in a novel and interesting manner, is suggested in my design to-day. It is a frock that the matron will be delighted with, for every line of it is dignified and especially becoming to the mature figure. The skirt is extended above the waistline each side of the front, while at the sides, and extending around the back, the bodice is dropped below the waistline. The effect is individual, such as the woman who interests herself in the making of her clothes always strives for. In the form of a three-inch band down the center front, white linen is inserted by means of fagoting. This band is slashed open a ways down from the neck, to permit the wearer to don the frock over the head, and so small round pearl buttons are called to service to link the piped edges together. The collar is a splendid sailor shape of the green linen, with the white forming a band on the edge. It is supplied with a small inner yoke. This model is adaptable for serge as well as linen, also a heavy silk, such as khaki-kool, which would make a spring frock in a dark color, or a summer frock in a light one.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

By Mildred Lodewick

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

THE smart woman

will renew her friendship with linen in the interest of her summer frocks. For though this fabric was pushed into the background for a couple of years, it has regained its self-possession, and will stand among the favorites of Dame Fashion. The very coarse and heavy weaves of it will make practical morning frocks on simple straight lines, while the lighter weight

qualities will be developed more elaborately in conjunction with organdie or real lace. Sometimes the linen is trimmed with linen in a contrasting color or white. Plain green linen for instance, with white linen introduced in a novel and interesting manner, is suggested in my design to-day. It is a frock that the matron will be delighted with, for every line of it is dignified and especially becoming to the mature figure. The skirt is extended above the waistline each side of the front, while at the sides, and extending around the back, the bodice is dropped below the waistline. The effect is individual, such as the woman who interests herself in the making of her clothes always strives for. In the form of a three-inch band down the center front, white linen is inserted by means of fagoting. This band is slashed open a ways down from the neck, to permit the wearer to don the frock over the head, and so small round pearl buttons are called to service to link the piped edges together. The collar is a splendid sailor shape of the green linen, with the white forming a band on the edge. It is supplied with a small inner yoke. This model is adaptable for serge as well as linen, also a heavy silk, such as khaki-kool, which would make a spring frock in a dark color, or a summer frock in a light one.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

By Mildred Lodewick

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NAMES HUSBAND OF FORMER WIFE IN DIVORCE SUIT

N. Y. Realty Man Attacks Validity of Pennsylvania Decree She Received.

Justice Gavegan, in Supreme Court, will hear argument next Monday on a motion made by attorneys for Leon Ottinger, brother of ex-Judge Ottinger, for a bill of particulars of the defense of former Mrs. Ottinger to her husband's suit for divorce.

Mr. Ottinger, a real estate operator at No. 31 Nassau Street, names his former wife's husband as co-respondent. Mr. Ottinger's attorneys insist that New York cannot recognize service in a divorce case by mail, and there is a further question whether, under New York laws, a husband can consent to his wife's change of domicile.

Former Mrs. Ottinger, who now lives at No. 120 West 73rd Street, sets forth through her attorney, Daniel W. Blumenthal of No. 28 Nassau Street, that she obtained a divorce from her husband in the Pennsylvania courts nearly a year ago, when she married Ralph Lowenthal, a rubber man, who now appears in Mr. Ottinger's complaint as co-respondent. Mrs. Lowenthal, then Mrs. Ottinger, obtained her divorce on the ground of abandonment.

Mrs. Sylvia P. (Ottinger) Lowenthal is the daughter of Louis Plaut, proprietor of a large department store in Newark, N. J. She alleges Mr. Ottinger locked her out of their apartment one day more than two years ago, and that she thereupon went to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and established a residence there.

Opposing counsel, former Judge Alfred Stockler, who represents Mr. Ottinger, and Counselor Blumenthal when seen to-day refused to discuss the case.

Mrs. Lowenthal alleges that she served her husband with summons and complaint in his divorce action by mail. Subsequently, she says, she surrendered her dower rights in valuable New York apartment house properties. Mr. Ottinger failed to contest her action.

A divorce decree was granted to her about six months ago, and she then obtained the Pennsylvania court's approval of her second marriage.

HOLDS TWO AS BURGLARS.

Policeman Hears Noise in Pharmacy as He Tries Door.

When Policeman John Esposito of the Hamilton Avenue Station was trying the door of a drug store at Court Street and Second Place, Brooklyn, early to-day he heard a noise inside.

Going around to the Second Place side, he says he met two men coming out. He captured them after clubbing one. Nothing had been taken from the store and there was no evidence of any one had entered, unless through the transom. The men described themselves as John Hays of No. 36 Third Street and Antonio Tutrone of No. 242 Sackett Street. They were charged with burglary.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

By Mildred Lodewick

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

THE smart woman

will renew her friendship with linen in the interest of her summer frocks. For though this fabric was pushed into the background for a couple of years, it has regained its self-possession, and will stand among the favorites of Dame Fashion. The very coarse and heavy weaves of it will make practical morning frocks on simple straight lines, while the lighter weight

qualities will be developed more elaborately in conjunction with organdie or real lace. Sometimes the linen is trimmed with linen in a contrasting color or white. Plain green linen for instance, with white linen introduced in a novel and interesting manner, is suggested in my design to-day. It is a frock that the matron will be delighted with, for every line of it is dignified and especially becoming to the mature figure. The skirt is extended above the waistline each side of the front, while at the sides, and extending around the back, the bodice is dropped below the waistline. The effect is individual, such as the woman who interests herself in the making of her clothes always strives for. In the form of a three-inch band down the center front, white linen is inserted by means of fagoting. This band is slashed open a ways down from the neck, to permit the wearer to don the frock over the head, and so small round pearl buttons are called to service to link the piped edges together. The collar is a splendid sailor shape

of the green linen, with the white forming a band on the edge. It is supplied with a small inner yoke. This model is adaptable for serge as well as linen, also a heavy silk, such as khaki-kool, which would make a spring frock in a dark color, or a summer frock in a light one.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

By Mildred Lodewick

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

THE smart woman

will renew her friendship with linen in the interest of her summer frocks. For though this fabric was pushed into the background for a couple of years, it has regained its self-possession, and will stand among the favorites of Dame Fashion. The very coarse and heavy weaves of it will make practical morning frocks on simple straight lines, while the lighter weight

qualities will be developed more elaborately in conjunction with organdie or real lace. Sometimes the linen is trimmed with linen in a contrasting color or white. Plain green linen for instance, with white linen introduced in a novel and interesting manner, is suggested in my design to-day. It is a frock that the matron will be delighted with, for every line of it is dignified and especially becoming to the mature figure. The skirt is extended above the waistline each side of the front, while at the sides, and extending around the back, the bodice is dropped below the waistline. The effect is individual, such as the woman who interests herself in the making of her clothes always strives for. In the form of a three-inch band down the center front, white linen is inserted by means of fagoting. This band is slashed open a ways down from the neck, to permit the wearer to don the frock over the head, and so small round pearl buttons are called to service to link the piped edges together. The collar is a splendid sailor shape

of the green linen, with the white forming a band on the edge. It is supplied with a small inner yoke. This model is adaptable for serge as well as linen, also a heavy silk, such as khaki-kool, which would make a spring frock in a dark color, or a summer frock in a light one.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

By Mildred Lodewick

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

THE smart woman

will renew her friendship with linen in the interest of her summer frocks. For though this fabric was pushed into the background for a couple of years, it has regained its self-possession, and will stand among the favorites of Dame Fashion. The very coarse and heavy weaves of it will make practical morning frocks on simple straight lines, while the lighter weight

qualities will be developed more elaborately in conjunction with organdie or real lace. Sometimes the linen is trimmed with linen in a contrasting color or white. Plain green linen for instance, with white linen introduced in a novel and interesting manner, is suggested in my design to-day. It is a frock that the matron will be delighted with, for every line of it is dignified and especially becoming to the mature figure. The skirt is extended above the waistline each side of the front, while at the sides, and extending around the back, the bodice is dropped below the waistline. The effect is individual, such as the woman who interests herself in the making of her clothes always strives for. In the form of a three-inch band down the center front, white linen is inserted by means of fagoting. This band is slashed open a ways down from the neck, to permit the wearer to don the frock over the head, and so small round pearl buttons are called to service to link the piped edges together. The collar is a splendid sailor shape

of the green linen, with the white forming a band on the edge. It is supplied with a small inner yoke. This model is adaptable for serge as well as linen, also a heavy silk, such as khaki-kool, which would make a spring frock in a dark color, or a summer frock in a light one.

Copyright, 1921, by The Evening World.

NEW and Original Fashion Designs

For Smart Women

Broadway at Ninth Street
New York.
Business Hours—
9 to 6.
Telephone
Stuyvesant 4700

8,500 pieces of Aladdin Aluminum Cooking Utensils, At Close to Half Price

$29,800 worth for $16,450—(back to pre-war prices)

2,000 Tea Kettles—$6.40 grade for $3.40.

2,000 Rice Boilers—$3.70 grade for $2.10.

2,000 Covered Saucepans—$2.15 grade for $1.25.

1,000 Double Lipped Saucepans—$1.55 grade for 80c

1,000 Frying Pans—$2.10 grade for $1.15.

500 Cooking Kettles—$3.30 grade for $2.

First Quality, every piece

Aladdin aluminum ware is extra heavy gauge and seamless—the heaviest and highest grade that is made. It is not to be confused with the light, flimsy, easily bent aluminum ware that usually appears in sales.

Never before, so we are informed, has this fine Aladdin aluminum ware been offered in any quantity at a lower-than-current price. The offer is now made for the sole purpose of introducing into more homes the high quality and utility of the Aladdin utensils. The special prices will prevail only while the above quantities last.

Each piece is first quality.

Each piece is stamped "Aladdin," the mark of the genuine.

Heads of families (yes, women are the real heads) will see at a glance from the illustrations and descriptions that the utensils chosen for this sale are those most used in the kitchen.

Sale opens Monday.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Women's English Topcoats at half

The English shop for women, for the first time, has secured a collection of manufacturers' samples of new home-spun and tweed top-coats.

$32.50 and $42.50 for $65 and $85 grades

At $42.50 are full length top-coats with English cut raglan sleeves and great patch pockets; exquisite combinations of color in checks and plaids and mixtures—gray-greens, soft browns, rose, terra cotta, mauve and all those remarkable old-country fabric colors. No two are alike.

At $32.50 are short sports coats to be worn with sports skirts.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Spring Furs at moderate prices

Mink scarves, $19.75, $25.

One-skin, large, good quality. Squirrel chokers, $8.75, $11.75; good gray color.

Wolf scarves, $16.50. Taupe, brown, black. Double fur. Silk lined.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Most women like Tweed Coats, $19.75

Tweed has an always-ready appearance—and a well-dressed appearance, as well.

These are half lined with silk; belted; and finished with cuffs. Probably the most practical coat a woman can have.

Downstairs Store, Old Building.

Regulation Coats for kiddies, $6.75

Mother knows what a "regulation" coat is—navy blue serge, double-breasted, with emblem. Always slightly for little boys of 2 to 6 years.

At $7.75

Polo cloth coats, loose back with raglan sleeves. So pretty for little girls of 2 to 6 years.

Downstairs Store, Old Building.

Extra-size Frocks for women, $15

The same complaint reaches us continually—"I can't find good frocks in stout sizes at a moderate price."

Here is a special group. Two models of wool jersey, braided. And two models of good serge in navy and black. Sizes are 42½ to 52½.

Downstairs Store, Old Building.

These Sweaters are Shetland, $2.95

Many women prefer Shetland wool sweaters for spring and summer use, and here they are, inexpensive, at $2.95. Tuxedo models; belted; light and dark colors.

Downstairs Store, Old Building.

Somebody wants Comforters

There are two particular groups here that seem to have sounded a popular note. Perhaps it is because present prices are such a happy relief from wartime prices.

At $5

Wool filled; silkoline covered; dainty floral patterns with plain borders. Double bed size.

At $6

Wool filled; saten covered; many lovely patterns to choose from. Double bed size.

Downstairs Store, New Building.

Keep the $25 Suit in mind

In other words—GOOD Wanamaker suit, in the Lower-Price Broadway Store, can be had this season at $25.

Last year prices began at $39.50.

The $25 variety includes blue serges, herringbones, pencil stripes and mixtures.

Sizes and styles for men and young men.

Eighty Gallery, New Building.

Downstairs Store, New Building.

Don't forget Easter Cards

Regular cards and folders for grown-ups and cut-outs for children are 5c to $1.

Eighty Gallery, New Building.

Downstairs Store, New Building.

Keep the $25 Suit in mind

In other words—GOOD Wanamaker suit, in the Lower-Price Broadway Store, can be had this season at $25.

Last year prices began at $39.50.

The $25 variety includes blue serges, herringbones, pencil stripes and mixtures.

Sizes and styles for men and young men.

Eighty Gallery, New Building.

Downstairs Store, New Building.

Don't forget Easter Cards

Regular cards and folders for grown-ups and cut-outs for children are 5c to $1.</